

In Just a Few Minutes, You Could Lose ALL Fear of Going to the Dentist!

Learn about the new technology that is revolutionizing dental visits and how you can experience a relaxed and calming experience at your very next appointment.

Dear Friend,

I know you hate going to the dentist.

In fact, most people would do just about anything to get out of showing up for their appointment.

Whether you had a bad experience as a kid or you know you need major work done, going to the dentist can be a frightening experience.

But it doesn't have to be.

Four Simple Steps to a Calm & Relaxing Dental Visit

In late 2009, American neuroscientists in Texas introduced a new technology. They took over 8 years of research and development to create a drug-free system that allows patients to be relaxed and calm for their dental visits.

Through their efforts, you no longer have to fear going to the dentist. Instead of experiencing sweaty palms, nervousness, or even nausea, you can escape those feelings and lose all sense of time with NuCalm.

NuCalm is the solution for dental patients who want to stop anxiety and have a relaxed visit to the dentist without the use of drugs. Now they can in four simple steps:

- Chewable tablets made from natural ingredients eliminates the body's natural flight-or-flight response
- FDA approved Cranial Electrotherapy Stimulation (CES) to relax the central nervous system
- Neuroacoustics mixed with classical music and noise-dampening headphones
- Dark glasses to reduce light and visual stimulation
- All combine to give you a relaxed and calm experience without drugs or side effects that you never thought possible!

Does Your Dentist Offer NuCalm?

Meet Dr. Jeffrey Prager – He offers a game-changing experience to his patients with a new and revolutionary treatment called NuCalm.

As a dentist, I am very familiar with the fear, trepidation and anxiety my patients feel before and during their appointments. While there are options out there to help people calm down so they can have dental work done, I had concerns about the dangerous side effects of those methods.

Safe & Relaxing Experience without Side Effects

It was this concern for side effects that led me to start using a revolutionary new method called NuCalm.

Dr. Prager Enjoying NuCalm

NuCalm is a safe and natural process that doesn't interfere with other medications my patients may be taking yet it allows for a calm and relaxed experience without anxiety.

It only takes about three minutes to implement NuCalm and my patients have reported that they have such a calming effect after their dental work that they actually have more energy than when they arrived.

NuCalm has been used on 130,000 patients in the U.S. with amazing results. In fact, 98% of patients surveyed stated they would recommend the procedure to their friends and family.

It's Time for You to Enjoy Going to the Dentist

I am also known for helping my patients deal with problems such as headaches and sleep issues in addition to their dental problems. Adding NuCalm is the perfect complement to providing my patients with the best and most advanced dental care.

I am the only dentist in our corner of Northwestern Washington to offer patients the benefits of experiencing NuCalm. Contact my office today at 360-312-4810 for a FREE NuCalm Treatment after your new patient exam. Join the thousands of people who won't go to the dentist without using NuCalm!

Sincerely,

Jeffrey R. Prager, DDS
